

Synergetic Fascial and Visceral Integration – 12 CE Hours

Join Structural Integrators Magnus Eklund BCSI, LMT 144 and Bobbi Eklund CSSI, LMT 2629
In Madison/Nashville, TN at Mind Body Institute October 3-4, 2026!

Course Overview This course explores the interface between fascia and viscera — how the connective tissue matrix surrounding and suspending our organs impacts posture, mobility, breath, digestion, and emotion. Through the Synergetic Myofascial Method, practitioners will learn hands-on techniques to release fascial restrictions influencing the viscera and support deep integration from the core outward, and co-regulate movement, posture, and pain. Through the Synergetic Myofascial Method, students will learn manual and energetic approaches to unwind tension in both systems while improving body awareness, mobility, and resilience. This is ideal for practitioners ready to work beyond the muscular layer and into the integrated architecture of viscera, nerves, fascia, and energy. Goal: To provide bodyworkers with practical tools and embodied understanding to assess, unwind, and reintegrate the neck, pelvis, spine, and upper body using Synergetic Fascial visceral principles. This course integrates anatomical, functional, myofascial and energetic approaches to restore stability, mobility, and fascial and energetic flow from the head down.
